

Kathrine Collin HAGAN – Short Bio

Ms. Kathrine Collin HAGAN, MA in International Development and Education Studies. Head of Department in Danish Board of Technology (DBT) experienced in public engagement, methods of participatory democracy as well as local government administration and its cross sectoral cooperation. In the DBT, she is leading engagement processes involving both citizens and stakeholders. Key role in the deliberative consortium developing and implementing citizens' panels for the European Commission and has been main moderator on Conference on the Future of Europe as well as the new European Citizens' Panels as well as the lead facilitator of the Danish Climate Assembly. Furthermore, the coordinator of EU-supported H2020 projects, RiConfigure and SockKET. Has previously worked more than a decade in the administration of Danish municipalities and local committees, designing and implementing processes for civil society development and engaging citizens in areas like city planning and policy development.