

Protein folding, assembly and disease

The session will cover recent developments regarding how proteins fold and how they can cause human disease when they do not fold correctly. The presentations will cover biophysics to animal models.

Invited speakers

Tessa Sinnige, University of Utrecht
Stefano Gianni, University of Rome

3-4 short talks selected from abstracts

Session chairs

Jan Johansson, Karolinska Institutet
Cláudio Gomes, University of Lisbon