

Biography

Erik Volodymyr Khranovskyy is researcher, entrepreneur and innovator, working in the field of material science for more sustainable future. Born in 1979, he graduated his PhD in Solid State Physics in 2010, and have been working in a number of EU research organizations (University of Oslo, Linköping University, Lisbon University etc) and has more then 80+ research articles and 5 patents. Erik has established and contributed to building of more then 8 companies, where 2 of them are succesfully working in the field of nanomaterials and sustainable development. Since 2018 Erik is CEO of Grafren AB, which is commercializing graphene nanomaterials and enabling new solutions in the are of textiles and composite materials.