

Thomas Swahn, Director Myfab

Thomas has about three decades of post-PhD experience in research, development and project management, and has served as manager in the communications industry at department level/equivalent at various position for about 15 years. Currently Thomas is at Chalmers Industriteknik. Since 2008, Thomas is Director for Myfab, Sweden's research infrastructure for micro and nanofabrication. Thomas has a M.Sc. in Engineering Physics and a Ph.D. in Theoretical Physics, Condensed Matter Theory, both degrees are from Chalmers. Furthermore, Thomas is Associate Professor in High-Speed Electronics at the Department of Microwave Electronics, MC2, Chalmers.